UBTP & BITS Breakfast

The University of Ballarat Technology Park (UBTP) and Ballarat IT Specialist (BITS) Breakfast brings together ICT professionals and other stakeholders from Ballarat and the broader region.

Tapping into technology to grow your business

Australian Industry Group members will join the May Breakfast to find out how they can better tap into the available expertise, innovation and technology development initiatives that are being developed by some of Ballarat's most creative and innovative businesses both at the University of Ballarat Technology Park and across the broader Ballarat region. Make sure your business is represented! At the conclusion of the breakfast a bus will be available to take those who register in advance on a tour of the UB Technology Park.

Guest Speaker: Ms. Elizabeth Lewis-Gray

Consistent with the theme of the Ballarat Innovation Festival, Elizabeth Lewis-Gray will speak on the relationship between innovative initiatives and strategies and the ultimate growth of a successful organisation or enterprise.

Elizabeth is co-founder and Managing Director of Gekko Systems, a company which specialises in the design, development and distribution of innovative mineral processing equipment. Elizabeth began her career in stock-broking and strategic planning, and in the 1990s, identified an opening for a company which could provide environmentally improved and low-cost metallurgical solutions for the mining industry.

Elizabeth started Gekko with her husband in 1996 and raised venture capital in 1998. The business grew rapidly, moving from its home base in Avoca to Ballarat in early 1999. Gekko Systems' success has led to international expansion, with offices established in Johannesburg in 2000 to service the increasingly important African market and in Vancouver in 2002 to service the North American market. The company has installed over 400 units in 40 countries worldwide and is now regarded as the leader in its field.
